

Notice of the Lockdown and how it will affect Holy Cross

There will be NO further public Masses held here until we are able to open again, hopefully in early December, but we are opening for Private prayer.

Dear Friends, it is with a heavy heart that I write this as once again the country is preparing for another lockdown and we have the cessation of public worship.

During the lockdown, as last time, Fr Harry will celebrate a private daily Mass for all your intentions.

The Church will be open from 9th November in a very similar way to which it was the last time, on Mondays and Thursdays from 10am-11am for private prayer, and I am most grateful to our volunteer stewards and cleaners who enable this to happen.

Again as last time, let us join in solidarity each day and pray the Our Father, for one another and the world.

With my prayers and blessings
Fr Kieran

If you attend for private prayer please be aware that at least one Steward will be available during the open hour. Track and Trace forms, sanitising of hands, and masks will all be required before entering the church.

The front door will be used as both entrance and exit but please, as you are leaving the church, give way to anyone entering and maintain the social distancing protocols at all times. The church will be cleaned from 11 am so please be prepared to vacate by this time.
